Gas Trust Wealth Can't Down Bolsheviks Better Than Birth Control What Farm Women Want

By Arthur Brisbane Copyright, 1932, Star Co.

The Supreme Court decides that an eighty-cent gas law is confiscatory, therefore unconstitutional. It takes a corporation's property without due process of law. The court is probably right, and it is certainly honest.

And protection for capital against confiscatory legislation or other action is necessary if civilization, as we understand it, is to go on.

But what a difference between capital, one form of wealth, and labor, another form of wealth. If railroads, knitting mills, steel plants, coal mines arbitrarily decide to make wages lower, and if labor says, "I can't live," there is no Supreme Court to call that confiscatory. Labor is told to go hungry for a while, then perhaps it will find a way to get along at the new rates.

This is not to question the established fact that all is for the best in the best possible of worlds, but just to point out that, if you have your choice, it is better to be capital than labor.

The public says to the gas monopoly: "We won't pay more than eighty cents." The Supreme Court says: "You've got to pay more." That settles it. The great food textile mills at Providence told its workmen: "We shall pay you only so much." And yesterday afternoon Rhode Island cavalry, coast artillery, deputy sheriff and police were all out to help the mills enforce their view of a fair price for labor. All right, doubtless, but there is a difference.

Anyhow, gas stock jumped up ten points in Wall Street yesterday and some one was happy.

Millions are starving in Russia, industry is broken down, the government even says it will pay the Czar's debts—which it never should pay—in order to be let alone.

And now, in Moscow, earnest Bolsheviks are planning "a new gigantic international to organize and control labor in all countries."

You cannot discourage those gentlemen. They remind you of the map in the debtor's prison, figuring out a simple way to pay England's national debt.

Japan changes her mind and says Mrs. Sanger may come and lecture on birth control, if she chooses. And Mrs. Sanger chooses. She says it is the solution of the economic problem in the Orient. It might help temporarily, but there are better ways of solving the population problem.

First, improve agriculture, use machinery, irrigate, use neglected lands.

Second, and more important, breed better human beings, higher grade. They do not overpopulate. The higher the race, all things considered, the lower the rate of increase. It had to be so, otherwise the world would end in wholesale cannibalism or infanticide, a sad comment on divine wisdom. Henry George wrote interestingly on that in his "Progress and Poverty."

War, in some degree, between North and South Ireland is old. Now the fighting is between South of Ireland, men, Armed forces against and in favor of the new Irish Free State (threaten civil war—worse than any other. England will keep out of it, and let the Irish fight it out to their hearts' content. It is not the first time in history that factions failed to agree have played the game for their countries. But Irish common sense ought not to allow England to say "I told you so" quite so soon.

Mrs. Radick, of Pulda, Minnesota, is on her way to Washington to tell the government something about women that live on farms and what they want. She represents six million farm women that would have meant little ten years ago. But now they vote, and everybody in Washington will shake hands with her warmly and ask about all this.

With her husband, Mrs. Radick works a 32-acre farm. She takes care of her children, as one slight child, a huckleberry and wakes her twelve-year-old boy early, that he may work for two hours before he goes to school.

She says that such conditions, which cause many children to die, to be born and to turn out as children are not necessarily right. That helps to explain the Seattle farm boys.

Two More Killed in Renewed Rioting in Belfast; Military Fires into Crowds

Belfast, March 7 (By the Associated Press)—Rioting in Hanover street this afternoon resulted in firing into a crowd by the military, killing two boys and wounding another.

The charge that sixteen parcels of property in the city of Medford that have been sold for $5,700 apiece by John E. Hannigan, liquidating agent of the closed Prudential Trust Company, have since been resold by the purchasers for a high as $8,000 apiece was made today to the legislative committee on Banks and Banking by Wilbur Drew, representing the People's Protective League.

Police came on the robbers' trail away down Edly street in a high covered auto, and a running gun battle followed. The officers pursued the men for several blocks in commandeered automobiles, and believe that they wounded at least one of the trio.

The automobile was a 1921 Buick, and was driven by a man named Blake. He was killed when the car plunged into the water.

Newbury Street, Back Bay, and Spring Lane are scenes of accidents.

City Hall loafers must get to work.

Mayor Curley said today, after he paid a surprise visit to the office of the Street Laying Department in City Hall Annex, and found many of the employees reading newspapers, telephoning to friends and doing everything except city work.

OTHER MEN PROMINENT.

Hall was well known in Boston and Walford, where he was prominent in Lodge circles. He has a wife and one living, as well as a sister.

Black had lived at the hotel on Kenmore and Newbury streets, for many years. Hall employees said they believed he was not with an attack of dizziness as he stood near his window.

Black's fall was also witnessed by many people. His body was taken back to his hotel room and Medical Examiner Maguire visited.

He was at the time of his death a trustee of the New England Cemetery of Mount and a prominent citizen, being connected with the Commonwealth, Federal and District Courts, and the Boston and Cambridge Club. He was graduated from Harvard in 1884.

CHARLESTOWN PERSONALISTS GIRL ATTACKED NEAR HOME

Agnes Finneran, 21, Returning From Dance, Left Unconscious in Alley

Police today are searching for the assailant of pretty twenty-one-year-old Agnes Finneran, who was attacked while returning from a dance at her home at midnight and then thrown unconscious into a nearby alley.

The girl is at the Haymarket square Relief station in a dazed and helpless condition. She has been unable, as yet, to give the police a coherent account of what happened.

The attack occurred while the girl was returning from a dance. The police believe that her assailant must have been her escort. The whole case is at present veiled in mystery.

The girl was found in the alley by neighbors who heard her feeble cries for aid. Both eyes were blackened, her face covered with cuts and bruises and her clothing badly torn.

The neighbors, on discovering her plight, notified the police of Station 14 and Patrolman Wadsworth, who hurried to the scene.

She lapsed into unconsciousness on the way to the station, and on arrival there she was taken to the hospital. Her father, James Finneran, 47, who lives at 100 West Broadway, did not know of the attack until six hours later.

The girl is the daughter of Thomas Finneran, 47, who lives at 100 West Broadway. Her father is a well-known figure in the city of Boston.

WAIT CURLEY DECISION.

He said he has received no information from Mayor Curley whether the Mayor wants him to continue as the representative of the city of Boston in the case. He expects, he said, that E. J. Sullivan will shortly be confirmed as corporation counsel.

The hearing was adjourned to next Tuesday, pending the decision by Mayor Curley. It was announced that the Boston American will then be ready to continue with the case against the Edison, which has been tried in conjunction with the city of Boston case.

It was also announced that the American is and has been ready to prosecute the case to a final conclusion.

IDEAS RICH AS ROBBED

Miss May Garlick of Lynn, bookkeeper for the Busy Alden Bakery Products Company, Inc., appeared before the Grand Jury today to give evidence in the case of Ralph Rich, twenty-four years old of Roxbury, charged with attacking and robbing her of $201 on Albany street, south of the ground, and robbing her of her money.

It is alleged that Rich waylaid the bookkeeper, who was on her way to the bank for her employees' wages, three hours before the grand jury was called to the protection of his name and integrity.

Rich was arrested in connection with the $2,000 robbery of a grocery store, also. Miss Garlick picked him out from nine other prisoners in the Charles street jail as her assailant.

Rich is awaiting trial in the grocery holdup under $200 bonds.

IS ORDERED TO CEASE MOLESTING HIS WIFE

With the request that he cease to molest his wife, Victor Hugo of No. 10 Clinton street, Charlestown, was given probation by Judge Sullivan in Charlestown Court today.

He was charged with carrying a loaded revolver and with molesting his wife, Mrs. Abbie Miller, Hugo and his wife have been separated since then. The other half of the case was to visit her at his home in Charlestown. Hugo refused to sign his name to the probation, and his wife was taken to the police station.

UNLICENSED AUTOIST WITH GUN FINED $10

Fines totaling $110 were imposed on Arthur Brainer of Lynnwood street, Charlestown, in Charlestown Court today. He was assessed $5 for driving an auto without a license, $5 for having no registration certificate and $5 for carrying a loaded revolver.

A charge of being drunk was filed on a charge of driving an auto while under the influence of liquor. He was found not guilty.

APPEARS AS WITNESS

District Attorney Called to Testify in Mosley Brokerage Case

Endouet P. Saltonstall, District Attorney for Middlesex County, was a witness today before Judge Jensen in Superior Court, when the petition filed by Edmund Codman for a writ of mandamus ordering the Superior Court to restore to the docked industries charging lawyers against members of the brokers firm of H. H. Mosley & Co. and directors of the East Cambridge and Cambridge Savings banks came up for hearing.

Codman in his petition asked that the court direct the District Attorney to prosecute the case, which grew out of alleged transactions connected with stock in the new defunct Hampden Railroad.

It is alleged also that the indictment against "Mosley" was procured by former District Attorney William J. Corcoran shortly before his term of office expired.

Codman, through his attorney, Conrad W. Crocker, complains that Saltonstall has failed to press the case because of his blood relation to certain persons concerned in the matter.

As an accommodation, because his attorney was retained by the defendant, Saltonstall has refused to appear in person to prosecute the case, but has asked to be allowed to name that person's attorney.

CRITICIZES ATTORNEY.

At this interview, Saltonstall continued, he told Crocker that he would hold him responsible for any false statements he might make in his petition.

When Crocker took up this point in further questions, Saltonstall said: "I have heard of you for a long time. I know you have been trying to block every effort toward reorganization of the Boston and Maine. I personally do not like your method of going about it."

Crocker then asked if he had ever known him (Crocker) to make a false statement. Saltonstall replied: "I don't think your reputation is of the best."

Continuing, Saltonstall said that he would not consider that he was going to act as a juror, attorney if he could not deal fairly with the case, and that his own relatives were involved.

MUMFORD TESTIFIES.

George S. Mumford, president of the Commonwealth Trust Company, testified today before Judge Jensen in the case of the Commonwealth Trust Company, which was the subject of a writ of mandamus.

During the further progress of the hearing, it was noted that Saltonstall was testifying that the Commonwealth Trust Company was a corporation that had been formed for the purpose of holding the old Hampden Railroad held by the bank and having a face value of $1,000,000 had been disposed of to Gordon Crocker at this point declared that he would show that the Commonwealth Trust Company was a corporation that had been formed for the purpose of holding the old Hampden Railroad held by the bank and having a face value of $1,000,000 had been disposed of to Gordon Crocker.

It will be all of two weeks before the Test Editor is in a position to say anything about the result of the membership competition, and even then he can say nothing definite. Up to the present, these names are merely names. Are they going to count? The question cannot be answered until the Famous Titles Test Drawing No. 40 has been printed and every contestant has sent in his answers. After that it will be determined how many and which of those whose names have been sent in really make good and submit sets of answers. In about two weeks an effort will be made to report some of the high number of names submitted.

BAPTISTS CLASH ON BAMP FOR COLORED

Newton Theological Institution Accused of Discrimination as to Students

The Newton Theological Institution was accused today of not allowing colored young men to take its course of instruction.

The charge was made by the Rev. David Klugh, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Boston, at a meeting of the Massachusetts Baptist convention in Hartford, Conn.

The matter came up when representatives from the World movement to colleges and schools of the denomination were discussing the inferiority of the Bible and the duty of the church.

Pastor Klugh said: "I would like to ask the chairman why colored men are not allowed to study at the Newton Theological Institution. We are asked to give money towards these schools and colleges and then find out that they are discriminating against colored men."

Several delegates denied the charge. Professor Bradley of Brockton, a colored minister, came to the rescue of Pastor Klugh, as did the Rev. C. H. Shelton, pastor of the Union Baptist Church, New Bedford.

PROVISION OF BONUS IS EXPLAINED

Final Draft of Measure Now Ready to Present to the Full Committee

Washington, March 7.—The committee on the House and Ways and Means has been perfecting a final draft for submitting to the entire committee. After formal approval it will be reported to the House, perhaps by Monday.

The effort to have included in the measure a provision providing for the payment of compensation to immediate relatives of men who have died since their discharge from the service was unsuccessful.

One of the more important provisions of which the majority has yet to act is that covering payments to immediate relatives of former service men who have died or may die before enactment of the legislation. Doubt was expressed as to whether this provision would be approved.

It is expected in the case of the bank loan provision of the compromise bonus bill.

That a loan may be made to any veteran prior to September 30, 1922, upon his adjusted service certificate. Any national or alien veteran who is authorized to loan to any veteran upon his adjusted service certificate.

The Treasury Department will make no payments to banks on notes with an adjusted service certificate. The Treasury Department will make no payments to banks on notes with an adjusted service certificate.

OFFICER'S PUNISHMENT PROVOKES MEFORD ROW

SHE DARKENED HER GRAY HAIR
Tells How She Did It With a Home-Made Remedy.

Mrs. R. H. Bock, a well-known resident of Southwestern County, Tex., who darkened her gray hair, made the following statement:

"Any lady or gentleman can darken their gray hair or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy with this simple remedy, which they can mix at home. To half a pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, one small box of Bane Compound and 4 ounces of glycerine. These ingredients can be purchased at any drug store at a very little cost. Apply the hair and is darkened sufficiently. It does not color the scalp, nor does it turn gray or does not rub off. It will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger."—Advertisement.

MEN FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE SIGN BONUS PLEA

"There's nothing too good for the boys who went Over There," was the general sentiment of the women.

ALL CLASSES SIGN.
All classes of people signed their names. Policemen, firemen, clerks, men, school teachers, laborers and merchants were among the signers. It was the exception for anyone to refuse. In most cases those who declined to sign were persons of wealth, many of whom possess huge war veterans' bonuses.

If the national law makers could see the necessity of the bonus, they would pass it. The following letter from James P. McGowan, president of the Boston branch of the American Legion, speaks for itself:

"It is but five short years ago that the nation was called upon to support the war. It is more than planned to notice the fact that the nation has taken in regard to the bonus for service men."

"HOW THINGS HAVE CHANGED."
How different things are now. Men who were a uniform coat even get a job, let alone recognition for their service to the country.

"Your paper alone has kept faith with us, fighting all through the tedious propaganda that has been forced against the bonus bill by the war profiteers."

"Keep up the good work. We will keep faith with those who keep faith with us."

"If all the newspapers of the country were as true as this, this would be BONUS COUNTRY."

The statement made in some quarters that the "assessors" set with to be plundered with the bonus bill, is answered in the following letter from Nathan N. H.:

"I am a World War veteran. I was in France and on the Mexican border. I am a man who can tell you that the bonus bill is the only way to get the money that is being given to the bonus bill."

"I have been unable to work for two years now, having been crippled with rheumatism contracted during the war. Though I have tried and tried I have been unable to get a cent from the government, despite all this talk about the aid that is being given to disabled soldiers. Go to it. Get the bonus for us."

Louis Manger, writing from the United States submarine base at New London, Ct., says that he speaks for two hundred men who are in the engineering force at that station when he says that the bonus bill is the only way to get the money that is being given to the bonus bill.

"I am a man who can tell you that the bonus bill is the only way to get the money that is being given to the bonus bill."

ASKS PELLER COAKLEY CASE BE DELAYED

Counsel for Latter Objects to March 20 as Too Early to Prepare Defense

A hearing was held before Judge Jensen of the Superior Court today in a motion of the Boston Bar Association to fix a date for the trial of Attorney Daniel H. Coakley and former District Attorney Joseph C. Peller on disbarment proceedings started by the association.

The association wants March 22 fixed as the date of the Coakley trial and asks that the Peller case be heard immediately after. The court took the matter under advisement.

The motion was presented by Attorney Robert C. Dodge, counsel for the Bar Association. The hearing was held.

Attorney William M. Hurd represented Attorney Coakley. The latter is in Florida with his wife. Former District Attorney Peller was not represented in person or counsel.

In regard to fixing a date for hearing on disbarment proceedings against former District Attorney Nathan A. Tully of Middlesex County, Judge Jensen said he had recently conferred with counsel for Tully on the matter.

DR. CECONI IS GIVEN $3,000 HEALTH POST
Dr. Joseph A. Ceconi of Dorchester, Health Department inspector, was today appointed by Mayor Curley to be city epidemiologist at a salary of $3,000 a year. The salary as medical inspector was $2,500.

He will continue his efforts to the school test and anti-cholera immunization against diphtheria.

SAYS PEOPLE WITH LARGE LAUNDRY BAGS CAN NOW GIVE DANCANTS IN THEIR HOMES AND WASH AWAY MANY PLEASANT EVENINGS

Some Guy has invented a new laundry machine where you can dance and wash all at once. This is great, we can now do two shimmies at the same time.

This machine is kept going by the will now be getting jobs in private homes as dancing instructors.

This bird has fixed it so that you can dance through a week's wash in one hour. You put in a shirt.

If it doesn't get clean in the first dance you can dance it over again. It doesn't require any talent. All you need is a couple of feet and some clothes that need laundering.

It's fine for amateurs. They can learn to dance and do their laundry work at the same time.

If you get tired you can sit out a couple of dances. Wash a pair of socks through the very end of the wash.

When it is all over, you can rinse them out through the back of the tub.

A woman got one of these machines for her daughter, but she found out her daughter was a wall flower.

These machines will help us cut down our laundry bills and become as famous as Irene Castle in five or six weeks.

Girls from the different laundries might be tempted to fight with a machine like this.

Where QUALITY is never sacrificed to Price

For the Small House or Apartment
There is the appeal of charm, suitability and economy, in these simple, good-looking, enameled

Four-Post Beds for 37.50
Colonial Bureaus for 48.00

The lure of enameled furniture is perennial. Made in Colonial style, and combined with inexpensive cretonnes and rag rugs, it gives an atmosphere of wholesome simplicity and New England hospitality which cannot be gainsayed.

For the nursery, the young girl's room, for Summer or year-round bedroom the style of these beds and bureaus is excellent. The bureau has a large, fine quality mirror and four commodious drawers, while the bed is of strong construction with curved head-board and rail foot-bar, a copy of an early American type.

Other Finishes Are White, Ivory, Gray and Mahogany
In addition, we are showing many other painted and decorated sets in blue, buff, ivory, silver birch and gray from which you may select as few or as many pieces as you desire.

To Set Off Enameled Furniture We Suggest:
Chintzes and Cretonnes in floral patterns, from 50c
Rag Rugs in plain, floral, or hit-or-miss patterns, from 1.35
Ruffled Voile Curtains, with tie-backs, from 1.95
